01 Living Color HOME: louis poulsen Poul Henningsen's PH-5 pendant light fixture is a lot like a Mini Cooper: It's 50 years old, quintessentially iconic, and colorful. The PH 50, Louis Poulsen's 50th anniversary edition of the 1958 original is now available in five retro colors, all with a high-luster, glare-free finish. Colors include chili red, wasabi green, coconut white, olive black, and midnight blue. $688 each. —ERIC MERRILL. More: Center of Modern Design, 7550 E. Canyonway Rd., Scottsdale, 480.483.8881	02 Grape Camp WINE: happy camper Happy Camper Wines wants to make things fun again. Each wine vintage and varietal is identified by a different Airstream RV setting on the label. The winery debuted in 2005 from owner Jeffrey Dye, who's targeting the Millennial Generation consumer (between 22 and 31 now). Despite the low sticker price, the wines are quite good and all are produced from California-grown grapes. $8.99. —KRISTINE HANSEN More: happycamperwines.com	03 Space Time FASHION: issey miyake Wearing a space-age watch to a party is a great way to say you're too interesting for... That can have a big effect on who you have and whom with. Keep it, check out this piece from the OVO collection ($400). The watch is incredibly durable and can withstand pressures up to 10 atmospheres. If you're bored, you can just go on a space mission. Available Neiman Marcus. www.isseymiyake-watch.com
